

A man and a woman are sitting on a blue rug in a rustic room with stone walls. The man is leaning over the woman, who is lying down. In the background, a fireplace with a glass door is lit with a warm fire. A speech bubble originates from the man.

*IF WE DON'T SWITCH TO RENEWABLE ENERGY,
WE'RE ALL DOOMED.
THAT'S WHY WE SHOULD HAVE SEX NOW.*

Our continuing use of oil and coal increases the likelihood of severe global warming and also makes us more vulnerable to ecological disasters and terrorism. Civilization as we know it is threatened, yet real, practical solutions exist. With cleaner energy such as solar and wind power, and widespread efficiency improvements, it is possible to wean ourselves from fossil fuels. We have the know-how to change the course of humanity. All we need now is the spark.
